One High Monday Amid Two Lows

Editorial - D.C.J.

That Monday was a most extraordinary day. It was, for New England, two dismal failures, one of which has no lasting consequence, and a visit that was a smashing success.

First the bad news: The Patriots took a beating from the Green Bay Packers who rose to the occasion to embarrass New England. That bad news we can absorb for the impact is only a week. The bad news that sticks was the "solving" of the presence in Cuba of Russian troops. An American President announced to the country that he had "solved" the problem by the simple expedient of declaring the Communist troops no threat to the United States. Even before Jimmy Carter appeared on TV, it is doubtful that anyone seriously considered that 1000 or so troops were an expeditionary attack force. What did come to mind was that this force was a deliberate violation of the Cuban Missile agreement and another test of a Democratic administration. Well, the test results are in. Because they are, why is President Carter so desperate for a SALT agreement? If he can accept the Soviet word as bond on a small scale, why then not on a large scale? The Soviet claim is that all of their soldiers are defensive. They say all of their missiles are defensive. All of their tanks, and planes, and guns are purely defensive and therefore no threat to the United States. How does that grab you Mr. President? Will you buy that one also?

Some may consider that the Soviet Communist troops in Cuba were put there in very calculating fashion to see exactly what the administration's reaction would be; as sort of an opening wedge. If a thousand troops are no threat, surely 10,000 are not much of a threat, then 20,000 certainly could be tolerated, etc. etc. etc. It is sort of an exercise in turning the other cheek for which great talent has been demonstrated.

In marked contrast to this bad news was that Monday start of a visit by a vigorous Pope. The charisma of this man is remarkable and his strength of character is responsible. There is something transmitted by honesty and conviction that transcends all boundaries. In contrast to the traditional frail, remote ivory image, this Pope is handsome, learned, earthly - a man of extraordinary range. His humor, sincerity and genuine love of humanity certainly was evident to all. This remarkable ambassador will be a tremendous force for good in the world for he has all the talents to carry his message with the maximum possible impact. The Pope's plans are reported to include a trip to Moscow. This one man could do more to shake the Russian godless ideology than an army of millions. For one week we watched as he charmed hundreds of thousands of Americans. If he ever enters Moscow, those sparks of love and faith will fall on millions starved tinder-dry for

ROPE SUPPLIED BY NEW BEDFORD FIRM FOR POPE'S VISIT TO BOSTON

Local resident, John E. Ruggles, president of New Bedford Textile Company, supplied the yellow rope for the Pope's visit to Boston.

Eighty-five miles of vibrant yellow 3/8 inch rope was attached to 500 blue barrels along the motorcade and on Boston Common where they formed police lines, along with blue wooden banners.

Five hundred other barrels, painted yellow and white, the Papal colors, were placed on the Common and tied with yellow rope for purposes of crowd control. T.V. mentioned the "web" of yellow rope woven to surround the Pope. The rope was very visible when the Pope stopped at Holy Cross Cathedral.

Scenes of the large reels of rope being unwound from a moving truck and being placed upon barrels were also shown on T.V.

As far as the eye could see, the entire

The Employees' Association was founded in 1971 for the benefit of both Tobey Hospital and its employees. In nine years it provided funds for the sick, bereaved, and temporarily destitute. Its educational fund has financed on-going education for members and seminars for employees.

A recent donation from the Employees' Association made the purchase of a new truck for the maintenance department of Tobey Hospital possible. The truck, available to all hospital departments in any official capacity, will greatly facilitate snow removal operations and the disposal of waste.

TO MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF THE DARTMOUTH CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

By now most of you are aware of the fire that occurred on September 20 at the Russell's Mills Museum. While the damage to the building is not extensive and is covered by insurance, we have still suffered a very major loss. There is a large hole in the floor of the Main room, the furnace must be replaced and the ceiling is questionable.

The real loss, however, is to our exhibits where the smoke damage was extensive. Many old and valued items such as mounted birds have been lost. Some can never be replaced. A great many hours will have to be spent in cleaning and restoring each item, as well as resorting them. The greatest loss, however, is the time, effort and care that have gone into collecting and setting up all the exhibits.

Already, many people have responded to our immediate need for sorting the great number of items; to move them and to re-box them, but we still need volunteers now for that work from 9-5 on sunny weekdays for the next few weeks. We must save what is left.

In the meantime, the Board of Trustees has been meeting frequently to determine our future course. Because of a number of severe inadequacies in the present facilities and the opportunities available at the Dartmouth Natural Resources Trust's new Lloyd Center, the Board, for some time now, has been considering the possibility of relocating. Funds generated from the sale of both the Russell's Mills building and the property on Old Westport Road could add greatly to erecting a new building at the Potomska Road site. This

We have suffered a very real loss in the enormous amount of time and energy that has gone into our museum by many dedicated people over the past 25 years. But from this loss we are sure we can rebuild with your help. We are sure we can provide increasingly exciting natural science programs for all of us, adults and children, in our area.

Please be patient. Our staff under Bob Bailey is working very hard under most difficult circumstances. Help us where and when you can.

WOMEN'S SELF-DEFENSE AND SAFETY AWARENESS COURSE

The New Bedford YMCA will start a Women's Self-Defense and Safety Awareness course on Friday, October 19th, for 8 weeks from 7:00-8:00 p.m. Develop confidence in defending yourself against larger assailants and develop an awareness of dangerous situations. This program also offers possible methods of avoiding dangerous or unpleasant confrontations. For more information on this valuable program, please call the YMCA at 997-0734.

GYMNASTICS

One of the world's most ancient sports-gymnastics - is becoming one of America's newest crazes, rapidly growing in popularity across the country, according to Thomas Barker, Youth Director of the New Bedford YMCA. He cites the YMCA, both here in New Bedford and in America, as a whole, to prove his point.

"Many YMCA's have witnessed firsthand the surge of interest in gymnastics in the past few years and have responded by either expanding existing programs or launching new ones. In a number of cases, Y's have even gone out and rented facilities ranging from an abandoned supermarket in Long Island, N.Y. to an old warehouse in San Diego, California just to house their growing gymnastics programs."

As in other parts of the country, the New Bedford YMCA is responding to the growing demand by launching a progressive gymnastics program for youth, beginning October 20. The Y program moves its young participants progressively from the beginners' level to the point where they can branch out into competitive gymnastics, instructing, or officiating.

Mr. Barker also pointed out that YMCA gymnastics, like all Y youth sports programs, not only offers participants skill training but values education as well.

"Youngsters not only learn about vaulting, rings, and the balance beam, they also learn about sportsmanship and fair play."

According to Mr. Barker, gymnastics dates back thousands of years. Hieroglyphics showing gymnastics exercises have been found in ancient temples. The earliest known writings on gymnastics came from China and date back to about 2600 B.C. Early cultures used gymnastics as training for battle, to ensure mental and physical health, for demonstrations and dance, and for many other functions.

"In America, YMCA's began to plan an influential role in gymnastics around the turn of the century when the sport was incorporated in the curriculum of the YMCA's Springfield College," Mr. Barker said. "But interest grew slowly until the late 1960's when girls were first admitted into Y gymnastic programs and women's events were first included in the National YMCA Gymnastic Championships. It has been booming ever since."

Mr. Barker also credited the opportunity for millions of Americans to see such stars

GUITAR RECITAL AT SMU

The Music Department of Southeastern Massachusetts University will present Robert Sullivan in a recital of guitar music on Thursday, October 11, at 1:00 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the College of Visual and Performing Arts. The performance is part of SMU's continuing Guest Artist Music Series.

Mr. Sullivan is currently on the faculties of Clark University and the New England Conservatory of Music and has performed extensively in both solo and chamber music recitals in the eastern United States. He attended the New England Conservatory of Music, Harvard University, and the Universidad de Cervera, Spain, and has studied with Hibbard Perry, William Sykes and Alexander Bellow.

The recital will feature various instruments which were predecessors of the modern guitar. The program will include sixteenth century works for lute and vihuela by Dowland, Valderrabano, Milan, and Harvaez; compositions for baroque guitar by Sanz; and works for guitar by Sor, Tarrega and Villa-Lobos. The recital is free and open to the public.

For those golfers without MGA handicaps - Calloway system will be used, so you need not have a handicap to participate. This will be an individual tournament.

And golfers! Plymouth Savings Bank, sponsor of the tournament, has provided over $2,000 worth of prizes including souvenir bag tags to each participant.

Men and women are urged to participate

Boston Children's Museum HERE WE GLOW AGAIN!

It's that time of year when all the chills and spills, the fears and cheers come together on the Jamaica way as the Children's Museum presents its eighth annual "Haunted House".

And the eighth edition will also be the last edition now that the Museum has moved to the waterfront. But they've saved the best for last, or to be more truthful they've "saved the worst for last" because this year's "Haunted House" is a cliff-hanger, a slam-banger, a last good-boo.

The "Haunted House's" last hurrah will run from October 19th through October 28th.

SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Woodland, farmland, urban land, wetland -- How much is there in Plymouth County? Is the land in good condition or does it need corrective treatment, perhaps to control erosion? Answers to these and other questions will come from an inventory of selected natural resources which the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) began last month. Plymouth County is one of five in Massachusetts being studied under the SCS's Inventorying and Monitoring Program. All counties in the state are expected to be completed by 1984 when the data for individual counties

District Conservationist Edward G. Konieczny, head of the SCS field office in Raynham, Massachusetts, explained that his staff will be collecting information on amounts of land in various uses, how the land is presently being used, and its current condition. They will note what conservation practices are being carried out and what treatment is needed. The information will be gathered from statistically selected sampling plots scattered throughout the county. The inventory data, along with SCS soil surveys, will also be used to identify important farmland, flood-prone land, urban development, cropland, and present and potential erosion.

This inventory will reveal present trends in soil erosion, conservation, and land use, and will be valuable to anyone concerned about the future of the natural re-will take part in a day-long celebration on Friday, October 12, to mark the formal dedication of Boston University School of Medicine's Cancer Research Center in memory of the late Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey admirers from across the country, government officials, scientists and medical professionals are expected to be on hand for the dedication events, which will pay tribute to the spirit of hope and continued commitment to work that the late Minnesota Senator and 38th vice-president exhibited during his courageous battle with cancer.

Vice President Walter Mondale is serving as honorary chairman of a National Advisory Committee organized to help sponsor the events.

Approximately 900 people are expected to attend a free public forum on "The Future of Cancer Research and Cancer Care" to be held from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in Boston's Faneuil Hall at Quincy Market. Speakers will include Mrs. Humphrey, author and futurist Isaac Asimov, Ph.D.; Paul H. Black, M.D., newly appointed director of the Hubert H. Humphrey Cancer Research Center; Nobel Laureate David Baltimore, Ph.D., a renowned scientist and cancer researcher; and Boston University President John R. Silber, Ph.D. will moderate the forum, which is designed to provide a new perspective on the future of cancer by presenting varying viewpoints on the scientific and political future of the disease.

Mrs. Humphrey will be the guest of honor at a luncheon set for 12:45 to 2:15 P.M. in the Great Hall at Quincy Market. Coretta King, widow of the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King, will be the featured speaker. Others scheduled to speak include Governor Edward J. King and U.S. Rep. as illegal the decorative license plates being sold which carry various names or designs, and on which the word "Massachusetts" appears.

The illegal plates are usually printed in green or white background, similar to the current series, which is displayed on the rear of the vehicle.

Registrar McLaughlin said he has determined the use of the non-registry issued special decorative plate is in violation of the law, if the name "Massachusetts" appears on it.

Motor vehicle owners are free to use the front space for a decorative plate if they wish, the Registrar said, but they may not attach a plate which can be mistaken for an officially manufactured and issued plate.

Registrar McLaughlin cautioned both store manager and buyer alike to beware buying or selling any plates which could be illegal.
